Gtr Evolution Patch 1201 No CdNational survey of ambulatory surgery in the USA. The authors describe the results of a national survey of ambulatory surgery centers in the USA and compare the findings with data from a similar Canadian survey. A survey instrument was developed and mailed to all registered ambulatory surgery centers in the USA. The survey was designed to obtain information on patient volumes and surgical procedures, nursing staff and surgical anesthesiologists, availability of ancillary services, and patient demographics and information. The authors received 549 responses (response rate of 51%). The majority of responders were academic institutions (69%) and open to all patients (94%). A wide variety of surgical procedures were performed in ambulatory surgery centers in the USA. Procedures included general and vascular surgery, ophthalmology, orthopedic surgery, dermatology, urology, and otolaryngology. Most of the ambulatory surgery centers did not provide anesthesia care (54%), and the majority (56%) provided postanesthesia care unit services. The
