The last ICP release had been released in late April and contained a number of enhancements. With the previous release we made modifications to the Solr connector. For v5.8.3 we rewrote the Neo4j Solr integration completely. It makes use of the new Oracle Solr java client and as such is now able to work with Java 1.8. The ICP Team has also focused on improving the basic code of Neo4j to better support automation, code generation and to ease the integration of new features. A major goal of v5.8.3 was to enhance the documentation. v5.8.3 includes the following: New Highlight API Upgraded XSLT Processor New bundled version of Apache Solr for Neo4j 3.x Enhanced Documentation Enhanced Documentation for HTML5 Enforced Full-Text Search Upgraded XSLT Processor The Highlight API allows developers to easily wrap the output of any queries in a set of tags. This is very useful if you want to interact with the data via XPath or CSS for presentation purposes. For example: Search Box Core Components The Neo4j Server can be started with the new Enhanced Core components. This allows you to start the server with the Server components. Improvements We have made a number of
