He is a computer technology student and writer, and he likes to write about new technology trends and news.A change in the principal's office indicated the acceptance of the change in the administration. Chief Denis McGonagle, principal of Avalon High, and his assistant Kelly Kenmore stand outside the new upstairs office for high school administrators. / Carly Leader Collins/Palm Beach Post "We want to continue growing," McKnight said. "I think the best part is the students are all excited about the change," Kenmore said. "There's definitely been a positive response." Students said they're excited about many things, including the upgraded technology, an updated library and the double doors that now open onto the courtyard. "We're really excited to go to new technology," said senior Amanda D'Urso. "We're going to be able to bring some of our laptops to our classes." Many said they're going to make the most of their time in the new building. "It's going to be a lot better because it's bigger," said junior Carissa Baca. "I think we're going to have a lot more room and we're going to have more resources to give to the kids." Principal Denis McGonagle and assistant Kelly Kenmore join principal Julie Warshawski in the new administration suite at Avalon High School. / Carly Leader Collins/Palm Beach Post But some students said they weren't sure what the new building would offer. "I think it's going to be really nice," said junior Ramvir Sandhu. "But I'm not sure what it's going to do." McKnight said the two-room remodel required extra funds, but the school districts, which are about a mile and a half apart, agreed to a shared fund of $5.25 million. "We had
