The new Asarum plant is a product of a planned breeding program conducted by the Inventor in Bonsall, Calif. The objective of the breeding program is to create new attractive and unique garden-type Asarum plants that are hardy to a frost free environment and have an improved plant habit and attractive foliage coloration. The new Asarum plant originated from a cross-pollination made by the Inventor on May 3, 2014 in Bonsall, Calif. of a proprietary selection of Asarum heterophyllum identified as code number 8771420, not patented, as the female, or seed, parent with a proprietary selection of Asarum heterophyllum identified as code number 7333831, not patented, as the male, or pollen, parent. The new Asarum plant was discovered and selected by the Inventor as a single flowering plant from within the progeny of the stated cross-pollination in a controlled greenhouse environment in Bonsall, Calif. on Oct. 2, 2016. Asexual reproduction of the new Asarum plant by divisions in a controlled environment in Bonsall, Calif. since March, 2017, has shown that the unique features of this new Asarum plant are stable and reproduced true to type in successive generations.Contents A few years ago, I was a young woman living in the West Midlands with my fiancée

The Anadromous(A) Salmon species are found in varying environments across the globe. In India, they are considered as an important resource. Previous investigations indicated the presence of >7 species of anadromous(A) salmon in India. In the present study, we sampled 42 adult fish from eleven species, based on their morphological attributes. The first part of the study contains the characterization of the mitochondrial (mt) DNA regions (Cytochrome b and D-loop) and DNA barcoding analysis. The study revealed 4 distinct haplogroups, out of which, two were represented by all eleven species. The study revealed that the species shared more than one haplogroup as they occur in sympatric condition. Further haplotype analysis showed that the number of haplotypes varied from one to four. The study also revealed the presence of a third haplogroup, which was completely absent from other countries including South America, Australia and New Zealand. Also, one of the two distinct haplogroups from Andaman & Nicobar showed 100% similarity with the haplogroup (HM65, HM46, HM19) from Kyrgyzstan. Our results indicated that the occurrence of several haplotypes within a species is highly probable and possible due to cyclic or permanent movement of a fish across marine (open-sea) and freshwater (tidal) systems. These haplotypes can possibly play a crucial role in the management and conservation of native fisheries, habitats and wetlands. The research can be useful for the effective implementation of management strategies.What to do if you are having trouble with your brain: first of all, don't panic.
