"The new HyperMotion Technology creates a customised, enhanced football experience, where you can make small adjustments and change your player behaviours to suit your style of play. We've given the players an improved ability to control their physical attributes and in-game actions. That means you can get into a fight with your friends, while also making small tweaks to your team's tactics." HyperMotion is also available in-game with the Player Impact Engine and this captures the complete sphere of influence a player has when he touches the ball. It gives the AI an awareness of how a player can impact the game. "We've gathered a massive amount of player data - thousands of data points - and if you pick your favorite athlete, you'll see a statistical view of how they play in real life," said Michael van der Laan, FIFA Technical Director.

"We're now able to feed all that information into a new and improved Player Impact Engine. That means we can think about player behaviour in depth, and tailor the actions they take on the ball based on what we know of their personality and style of play." "We are building customised stories of each player," said Ricky Lehtinen, general manager at EA SPORTS. "As you play the game, we will assign them a story that affects how you play. Their life is no longer just a set of statistics." The combination of HyperMotion and the Player Impact Engine will enable you to control your player's attributes in a more realistic manner. Additionally, you can now further alter your players' physical attributes in a simulated locker room, addressing their needs and improving their performance with the help of your own coach. The FIFA bench is now part of the game, working with HyperMotion to deliver customised coaching to help players and teams perform to their potential, based on in-game and real-life data. In addition, an EA SPORTS Football Club is now available, which allows you to connect to your friends and compete for top spots in the Premier League and other competitions. The FIFA World Cup is returning for the first time since 2010, with the Tokyo 2020™ Olympic and Paralympic Games. Experience the world's greatest sporting event of the year, including an all-new FIFA World Cup Official Event mode as well as complete XI locations from around the world, such as Germany, Brazil, and Mexico. The game features all 32 teams, including Russia

A caller from England has stated that the new iMac and MacBook Pro will be available to purchase in the UK from the 30th of August. The caller stated that the models will be released in the UK on the 30th of August, exactly two years after the MacBook Air and the previously leaked iMac Pro were launched. The caller, again, also stated that the models will be available in the UK on the 30th of August and not September, as rumoured earlier. iMac Pro is the only product being marketed as being released in September. As well as the iMac and MacBook Pro, the caller also mentioned an update to the Magic Mouse 2 that allows for Bluetooth connections and the introduction of the new iPad, which is named the iPad Pro, and the new iPad, also named the iPad Pro.1. FIFA is the world's most popular sports videogame franchise. Dedicated to excellence and innovation in the soccer world, the series has sold over 200 million units worldwide and been crowned the best-selling sports videogame franchise every year since the launch of FIFA in 1994. The original franchise was created by EA Tiburon and published by Electronic Arts on the now ubiquitous PlayStation® console and on PC, with the latest version of the franchise, FIFA 19, released in August 2017. What is FIFA 21? FIFA 21 is the next generation of football - a new look, feel and experience that will take the series into new frontiers as the most authentic football game in the world. Powered by the Frostbite™ game development platform, the new era of football begins with a brand new story, new characters and an all-new presentation as well as revolutionary new gameplay across both the first-person and third-person view modes. Focused on innovation, FIFA 21 will offer players an authentic and bold football experience at all levels of the game. What is FIFA 22? FIFA 22 is the most authentic football video game ever. Powered by the Frostbite game development platform, the new era of football begins with a brand new story, new characters and an all-new presentation as well as revolutionary new gameplay. What's new in FIFA 22? FIFA 22 is the most authentic football video game in history. The all-new Frostbite game development platform powers a revolutionary all-new presentation, new characters and gameplay, including revolutionary changes to the way players move, shoot and dribble the ball. Featuring fully revamped and more immersive animations, the game is the most physically demanding game on the PlayStation®4 and Xbox One, with the new Frostbite engine putting the player in the centre of a fast-paced, realistic and immersive experience, allowing players to master every area of the pitch. What's new in FIFA 21 and 22? • Change how players move, shoot and dribble - A new animation engine lets players move in a more realistic, less robotic way with fluid, behind-the-back movements that look and feel more natural. Players now have to adapt to the pace of the game: their movement and body language are key to changing the pace of play and changing the course of a game. • Brand new look - New to the world of football is the presentation. The new-look matchday section provides essential information
