This is especially true when it comes to designing web pages and text as text is often a major component of any web page. There are many fonts already installed in Photoshop that you can use and use to create text on your own. It is possible to learn how to use most of the fonts pre-installed in Photoshop, but there are a few special ones that you need to know about. The first special font is the famous font "Courier New". It is installed in Photoshop by default but has a version from Apple called "Courier" and a version from Microsoft called "Microsoft Sans Serif".
