At Lister, we believe in the secondÂ .The Water Solution To Improve Your Health Lately, there has been a lot of hype surrounding the idea of drinking water. All of the "clean water brands" are marketing water as a health booster, and everyone wants to buy one. The truth is that most of the products available on the market (filters, sprays, bottles, etc.) are a waste of money for the consumer. The truth is that most of the products available on the market (filters, sprays, bottles, etc.) are a waste of money for the consumer. We have been told over the years that all of our drinking water should be filtered because it isn't really clean. That is true. But that is the beauty of the fact that the human body can filter contaminants from the water. This is because the body is made up of cells that are constantly producing new cells to sustain itself. Because of this, the body produces something called a "liver". It is a filter of sorts that can detoxify the water the body ingests from the environment. In regards to drinking water, the best thing to do is to find a way to keep the quantity of beverages the body ingests to a minimum. When the body is working hard, it needs to replenish its fluids. Once the body is properly hydrated, it will work harder and save the drink as a fuel source. What makes the whole drinking water argument even more interesting is the real truth of knowing exactly what is inside your body. The truth is that the body doesn't need something to help it function. It is its own power source. It is its own generator. It has the ability to heal itself. Therefore, in
