See for more information on their JMP product No matter how broken and broken you are, you're still there. You're still breathing, still bleeding and you're still breaking my fucking heart. I'm broken; I'm mentally broken, I'm physically broken, I'm socially broken, emotionally broken and I'm broken-hearted. I'm doing well (even though I'm taking things to a much different level than I did a year ago). I'm better now, I guess. I am much better. It took me so fucking long. While I'm better now, there are still things I will never overcome. You will NEVER get that from me. You can NEVER make me love you. You can NEVER accept me. There is no way I will EVER want you. You have me now. You're the one and only. You're the one for me. You're the one I want to spend the rest of my life with. I'll never want anyone else. You have given me everything. You are everything for me. You will never understand the immense amount of pain I endured just being your lover. All that time fucking you, all that time thinking about fucking you, all that time that I tortured myself over you, all that pain, all the self-destruction that I have done just being your lover for so fucking long. I will NEVER forgive you for all those selfish and miserable nights. All those sleepless nights that you were not here. All the nights that you were with another. All the nights that you were fucking some other before you came back to me. All those nights I was alone. I will NEVER forget that. d0c515b9f4
